

BENEFITS OF OUTSOURCING NON-CORE FUNCTIONS TO SESHNI CONSULTING (Pty) Ltd.

COST	One of the most obvious benefits of outsourcing a function to an external supplier is the financial savings. Whether it's office space, human resources, technology or general expenses, the outsourcing entity ends up with increased savings and also has access to an extremely talented workforce (potentially even around-the-clock service, if required).
EFFICIENCY	When entities outsource their non – core functions and activities, they enjoy efficiency gains. With the latest technology, staff with up-to-date skill sets and much bigger teams, Seshni Consulting(Pty)Ltd is ready to assist you with the provision of outsourced functions. This will allow your staff the time to focus on higher value tasks such as sales, or creating strategies for growth.
INCREASED FOCUS ON CORE ACTIVITIES	Outsourcing can take pressure off the management team, allowing them to focus more on developing and growing the entity. The team can divert their attention to important core functions like improving customer engagement, research & development and providing high value services. This can have a positive impact on overall performance of the entity.
LEANER ORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE	If non-core functions are outsourced, the entity becomes a lot leaner. There are less people to manage, less office space is required and less challenges and problems to attend to. This also means that systems and technology, for example, can be scaled down. This further simplifies the operations of the entity, reduces cost and the need for managers to invest as much time and effort with non-value adding activities and the staff performing these activities.
